United Way RSVP expands Free Blood Pressure Screening in Wausau

WAUSAU, WI – United Way RSVP of Marathon County has added a new blood pressure screening location in Wausau beginning on August 10. The free screening will be held at the Marathon County Library located at 300 N. First St. in Wausau every 2nd Wednesday of the month from 10:00 AM – Noon. The blood pressure screening is staffed by volunteer nurses who are RSVP volunteers. Persons attending will receive their screening results on a personal results card, along with information related to their screening. Educational materials related to hypertension are also available at no charge.

Free blood pressure screenings are held at regular sites each month, making it convenient for people to monitor their blood pressure on a regular basis with educational support provided by registered nurses. If you have questions or would like more information and nurses interested in becoming volunteers with RSVP can contact Tony Omernik, RSVP Director, at 715-847-2927 or rsvp@unitedwaymc.org.
